

ownCloud Subscription: Branding

Creating branded desktop and mobile clients

Is this service for you?

You want to use ownCloud in your enterprise, but would like the application to carry your own branding on all user platforms. You could create your own designs and deploy them yourself with ownCloud's ownBrander app, but your IT resources are engaged in more critical tasks, and you'd like to have the branding implemented as quickly and easily as possible.

The ownCloud Branding Packaging Subscription provides the help you need to develop and deploy branding on all your platforms, exactly the way you want them. For customers who do not want to use the self-service branding offering, the ownCloud Branding Service allows you to provide the artwork and configuration, and we provide the branded software.

How it works

The ownCloud Branding Subscription is a yearly subscription that provides remote consulting to assist you with all aspects of branding. You provide the design elements and propose what the configurations should look like, then we build the software and provide it to you. Supported platforms include Android, iOS, Mac, Windows, and Linux.

What's included

- Yearly subscription for existing and new branded versions of ownCloud software across all of your interfaces
- Guidance on the mobile device software distribution process for Android and iOS (including navigation of the app stores and related requirements)
- Support for all major platforms

Benefits

- Customized branding for mobile, desktop, and web interfaces
- Minimized time and disruption for you and your users
- Consistency across all interfaces and platforms
- Support for Android, iOS, Mac, Windows, and Linux
